Take part in the St. Gallen Wings of Excellence Award and seize your chance until 2 February 2009 to participate in the 39th St. Gallen Symposium.

Meet 600 outstanding decision-makers from the fields of business, politics, science and society and 200 talented students from all over the world.

Until 2 February 2009 you can participate in the St. Gallen Wings of Excellence Award by writing a contribution about the topic “Revival of Political and Economic Boundaries” to qualify for the 39th St. Gallen Symposium, taking place from 7–9 May 2009 on the campus of the University of St. Gallen, Switzerland. The world’s leading student competition of its kind provides you the unparalleled opportunity to discuss urgent issues together with eminent decision-makers and media representatives. The next symposium will be privileged to host personalities such as Dr. Wulf H. Bernotat, E.ON AG, Samuel A. DiPiazza, Jr., PricewaterhouseCoopers International Limited, Brady W. Dougan, Credit Suisse, and John Elkann, Fiat S.p.A. Take your chance and enrich the 39th St. Gallen Symposium with your opinion.

Journey, accommodation and nutrition will be organised and covered largely by the International Students’ Committee (ISC). In addition, the most outstanding pieces of work will be honoured with the St. Gallen Wings of Excellence Award which is collectively endowed with EUR 20,000.–. Furthermore, the authors of the most splendid contributions will be given the exceptional opportunity to present their work to the assembled plenum.

The contribution should include inspiring thoughts and actions as well as introduce a new approach of unconventional ideas on the topic. Under the heading “Revival of Political and Economic Boundaries”, the 39th St. Gallen Symposium will be looking at new options and new fields of entrepreneurial and political activity in the light of a world order that is undergoing fundamental change. The return of geopolitics, the increasing barriers to the development of free global trade and the challenge of migration show how strongly the world will again be governed by geographical, political and also cultural boundaries. Moreover, solutions to problems in the international financial system are pointing towards a long-term, fundamental strengthening of the state and its role as a regulator.

On our website www.stgallen-symposium.org you can find more detailed information about the 39th St. Gallen Symposium. You are more than welcome to contact us by phone +41 (0)71 227 20 20 or e-mail us at symposium@stgallen-symposium.org if you have any questions.

The 39th ISC-Team would be glad to welcome you in May 2009 at the 39th St. Gallen Symposium.

Sincerely yours,
St. Gallen Symposium

Denise Diem
Désirée Koller